

About Us

4 Views provides industry specific software, and factory management services for manufacturers who want practical, easy solutions to better manage the costs of running their business. Our first hand experience, sound reputation and passion for the industry is dedicated to making large and positive impacts on the profits and performance of manufacturers.

4 Views's Director is Michael Rowe. Michael is a highly experienced shopfitter who over the course of his career has been involved in factory setups, installation of CAD and factory management software and setout operations. He has helped hundreds of customers around Australia implement and support new technology and operational solutions and as a result his knowledge and experience is second to none.

We have 4 "views" on how to provide this invaluable support to fellow industry members.

Proven Software Products

Software can take your operations to new levels. A focus on estimating, factory management and scheduling software is supported, along with access to proven 3D CAD solutions.

Design Centre

Drafting and setout skills are becoming an essential trade in their own right within the woodworking industry. Whether your business is small or large you can access this highly skilled, and advantageous resource, adding a winning edge to your business.

Training

With the implementation of new software, it is critical that you support your investment. You get the most out of your chosen product from day one, and arm operators with the ability to use it strategically, to unbolt the potential within your operations.

Consultation

More than ever there is lots of choice and emerging manufacturing strategies in this changing industry. Feel confident you are making effective strategic and purchasing decisions for your individual operations, based on our sound advice and solid experience.
